

The movie industry should not have a special privilege to own fully-functional digital television devices.